

KFF Just Released

Health Insurance Marketplace Calculator Updated for 2019

KFF's Health Insurance Marketplace Calculator now includes local data on the 2019 health plans being sold through the Affordable Care Act (ACA) marketplaces during the 2019 open enrollment period.

With the tool, consumers around the nation can generate estimates of their health insurance premiums and what financial help may be available -- based on household income, family size, ages of family members, and zip code -- for ACA marketplace plans sold in their local area. The calculator also helps consumers determine whether they could be eligible for Medicaid. A Spanish-language version of the calculator is also available.

Use the Calculator

In addition to the updated calculator, KFF offers a searchable collection of more than 300 Frequently Asked Questions about open enrollment, the marketplaces and the ACA. The FAQs cover a wide range of topics including eligibility for subsidies, requirements for health coverage and information about health plans offered through state ACA marketplaces. The updated collection now addresses the 2019 repeal of the individual mandate tax penalty and includes a new section on short-term health insurance policies. More than 150 of the FAQs in the collection are also available in Spanish.

Filling the need for trusted information on national health issues, the Kaiser Family Foundation is a nonprofit organization based in San Francisco, California.

Contacts:

Rakesh Singh | (650) 854-9400 | rsingh@kff.org

Craig Palosky | (202) 347-5270 | cpalosky@kff.org

kff.org | kaiserhealthnews.org

Connect with us:

Share this email

