

Dear Friends,

Hope you are well and not going stir crazy with cabin fever!

If you're looking for some entertainment, news and helpful information, you can find all of that on the library's website at <http://pbclibrary.org/> and within the Covid19 Resources on the library's website (just click below)

http://www.pbclibrary.org/covid19/resources?field_all_categories_tid_selective=205

There are some excellent resources--and these are some of my favorites for kids:

Story Time From Space <https://storytimefromspace.com/>

Storyline Online <https://www.storylineonline.net/>
(especially Mark Duplass reading "When a Dragon Moves In")<https://www.storylineonline.net/books/when-a-dragon-moves-in/#YouTube>

Kidlit TV's "Finish This Comic" challenge <https://kidlit.tv/2020/03/jarrett-lerner-activities/> Boy, do I know a few young patrons who would love these...!

And, Author's Everywhere <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCowhHSUaWp3KJDcuI0nR0vw> Especially this video:

Dealing with Fears and
THIS BOOK IS SPINELESS with Lindsay Leslie! -

In this video,
children's author
Lindsay Leslie talks about her picture
book THIS BOOK IS SPINELESS (illustrated by Alice Brereton), all about a book that's ...

I hope you'll enjoy these resources--and there are so many more--and for all ages at <http://pbclibrary.org/>. For you parents, as "virtual school" is starting up, you may want to look at the link to the School District's Distance Learning Information and Resources:

While some of us have a little more time on our hands, I'd like to leave you with one more offering...if you'd like to write about your experience during this crazy time, (or if you'd like to do some writing on any topic) I am your cheerleader! I've thought of starting an online Loula V. York Library literary magazine for years, but we've all been "too busy" to really get it off the ground (or page, so to speak!) So if you'd like to flex your creative writing muscles, you have an interested reader here! If you need a little inspiration, please check out some of the writing prompts at <https://www.journalbuddies.com/>. And, if you'd like me to read your work, please send it to me, with your name, age (if you're a youngster) and note if you're willing to have your writing published (shared with others) online. Thanks!

As always, you can reach me by email, if not always by phone. I wish everyone a very healthy couple of weeks. May you be surprised by joy!

My very best to you and your families, Ellen
