1. INTRODUCTION

A. IMPORTANT FACTS TO KNOW

- (1) A local bill is any bill which relates to a specific geographical area as opposed to a general bill which affects the entire State of Florida.
- (2) All requests for local bills to be presented to the Florida Legislature for the current year session must be heard before the Palm Beach County Legislative Delegation at a properly advertised public hearing in Palm Beach County.
- (3) The Palm Beach County Legislative Delegation's By-Laws (Section IV) pertaining to local bills state:

A. LOCAL BILLS

No local bill shall be introduced to the Legislature unless approved by a majority of the members of the House present and a majority of the members of the Senate present as indicated by roll call vote.

B. VOTING ON LOCAL BILLS

1. Public agencies submitting bills to the Delegation are required to submit proposed bills in form prior to asking Delegation's approval.
2. No bill will be voted on unless in proper form.
3. Fiscal impact statements are required on all local bills.
4. Delegation hearings shall constitute the public hearings on local bills.
5. Concepts for proposed legislation may be agendaed for hearings at the request of at least one delegation member.

1. INTRODUCTION (continued)

- (4) All questions that arise regarding your local bill can be directed to:

Christine Shaw, Executive Director
Palm Beach County Legislative Delegation
Office: 561-355-2406
Cell: 561-818-8833
Email: CShaw1@pbcgov.org

- (5) All requests for consideration of your local bill must be prepared in bill form as described in detail in Section 2.
- (6) An Economic Impact Statement must accompany the bill. Section 3 addresses this process in detail.
- (7) Advertising the local bill is an integral part of the entire process and is explained in Section 4.
- (8) One of the most important tasks of the local bill filing process is MEETING THE DEADLINE DATES. Section 5 addresses all responsibilities and required DEADLINE DATES in detail so that you will have ample time to meet both the Palm Beach County Legislative Delegation's and the State Legislature's deadline requirements.

Again, WE CANNOT STRESS ENOUGH THE IMPORTANCE OF MEETING ALL THE REQUIREMENTS OF SECTION 5.

- (9) Local Bill Certification is explained in Section 6.
- (10) So that there is no misunderstanding as to who is responsible for providing the required materials described in the above sections, Section 7 clearly defines the responsibilities and obligations of the party requesting the local bill and the responsibility of the Palm Beach County Legislative Delegation. Section 9 contains a complete checklist for local bills.

2. PROPER BILL FORM

A. FORMAT

- (1) Bills should be prepared on letter size paper with numbered lines in the margin on the left-hand side. (See Example 8-B on page 16.)
- (2) All bill drafts should be dated as of the date submitted on the Delegation office, (can be noted on summary). Amended or revised bill drafts should show the original bill with amendments underlined or deletions stricken.
- (3) All bills must be typed using double spacing and typed lines should correspond with the numbers in the left-hand margin.
- (4) It is very important that bills, which amend the present law, be prepared against a copy of the official current text of the law. Do not use a text or a numbering system which differs from the version found in the Laws of Florida. Much confusion can be avoided by working only with the official text found in the Special Acts Volume of the Laws of Florida.
- (5) IMPORTANT NOTE: It is the Delegation Office's preference that all materials simply are stapled in the upper left-hand corner and/or submitted in a binder or jacket.
- (6) All bills shall include, in layman's language: a fact sheet which summarizes the bill; a letter of intent which summarizes the reason for filing the bill and the intended purpose of the bill; and an explanation why the bill cannot be accomplished without a local bill.

B. CLAIMS BILL

A claims bill is a bill which seeks compensation for a person injured (physically or financially) by the State, its sub-divisions, or agencies, officers, or employees thereof, under circumstances where there is no other legal remedy available. Historically, the State was absolutely immune from liability, and, therefore, the objective of a claim bill was to satisfy the "moral obligation of the state..."

If the "claims bill" is a local bill, it must be advertised the same as another special law, unless it is made subject to a referendum.

Claims bills are usually filed by a member of the House and a member of the Senate with the same procedure as general bill, and are not considered by the Legislative Delegation.

2. PROPER BILL FORM (continued)

C. PREPARING THE TEXT OF THE BILL

(1) One Subject

Section 6 of Article III of the Florida Constitution provides that:

“Every law shall embrace but ONE subject and matter properly connected therewith...”

The subject to be considered is the one expressed in the title of the Act, and the “ONE subject” may be quite broad. So long as the bill embraces a simple subject, it may amend any number of sections or even different chapters.

(2) Titles

Section 6 of Article III of Florida Constitution provides that:

“Every law shall embrace but one subject and matter properly connected therewith, and the subject be briefly expressed in the title.”

The title is the portion of the bill which serves the purpose of expressing the subject of the bill and is essential to the validity of the law to be enacted.

It should briefly express the subject of the proposed legislation so that the mere reading of it will indicate the nature of the details which are embodied in the act. A general title is preferable, but the title must give notice sufficient to reasonably explain the contents of the bill.

D. ENACTING CLAUSE

Section 6 of Article III of the Florida Constitution provides in part:

“The enacting clause of every law shall read: ‘Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:’.”

E. AMENDING PRESENT LAW

Section 6 of Article III of the Florida Constitution provides in part that:

“Laws to revise or amend shall set out in full the revised or amended act, section, subsection, or paragraph of a subsection.”

2. PROPER BILL FORM (Continued)

This requirement applies only to amendatory acts, not to bills which seek to establish new programs or additional provisions without reference to the present law. When an amendment is made to present text, the entire text of the portion being amended must be set forth. If the amendment is to paragraph or subsection that does not make sense standing alone, the remainder of the subsection or section should be set forth in the bill. In addition, introductory language which preceded a group of subsections or paragraphs should be shown whenever any of the subsections or paragraphs which follow are amended. Amendment of the introductory material itself nearly always requires that the following subdivisions be set forth, even though none of them is being amended. If the amendatory enactment is not a complete, coherent and intelligible act, or if necessitates separate research and analysis of the local act which is being amended in order to be understood, it does not meet the requirements of Section 6 of Article III.

F. EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 9 of Article III of the Florida Constitution provides that:

“Each law shall take effect on the sixtieth day after adjournment sine die of the session of the legislature in which enacted or as otherwise provided therein. If the law is passed over the veto of the governor it shall take effect on the sixtieth day after adjournment sine die of the session in which the veto is overridden, on a later date fixed in the law, or on a date fixed by a resolution passed by both houses of the legislature.”

Although an effective date section is not necessary to a properly prepared bill, it has become customary over the years to include an effective date in almost every bill.

G. LOCAL BILLS SUBJECT TO REFERENDUM

When local bills are subject to a referendum, (requirements explained in Example 8-C on pages 17-18) the bill does not end with the customary effective date. Instead it has a section which specifically calls for a referendum upon the outcome of which the effectiveness of the act is conditioned. There is no specific form for a referendum section, but it should provide a statement:

- (1) That the act is to take effect only upon its approval at an election.
- (2) That those voting shall be qualified electors.
- (3) Describing when the election shall be held, either in conjunction with a special election, primary election, or the general election.

2. PROPER BILL FORM (Continued)

- (4) That in the case of a special election, a time is to be set by the County Commission, City Commission, or a specified and appropriate local governing body.
- (5) That the approval of a majority of those voting in the election shall be required for the adoption of the act.

Additionally, the type of ballot should be noted (i.e. an actual vote or mail ballot). Avoid using the phrase “approval by a majority of the qualified electors of the country.” Properly construed, such language would require approval by more than 50% of the total number of registered voters rather than by more than 50% of those who choose to vote. (Examples 1 & 2 on page 18 is provided to assist you.)

H. SPECIAL DISTRICTS

- A. Dependent Special Districts - A dependent special district is a district that is generally, either through its governing body or its budget, controlled by the city or county which creates it.
- B. Independent Special Districts – An independent special district is one which has an independent governing body and control over its own budget. Generally, these districts can be structured in almost any manner provided by the local bill which created them. However, in 1989, Chapter 189, Florida Statutes was amended to provide strict criteria for the creation of most special districts.

With certain exceptions, all independent special districts must adhere to the criteria contained in Chapter 189, Florida Statutes or some other authority by general law.

3. ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT REQUIREMENTS

Before its repeal in 1996, section 11.075, Florida Statutes, required that the Legislature consider the economic impact that any law has upon the public and agencies of government that implement or enforce the law.

Current legislative policy requires that economic impact statements for local bills are prepared at the local level and be submitted when the bill is filed with the Legislature.

The House Local, Federal & Veterans Affairs Subcommittee has developed a form (see examples on pages 20-23) which must be filled out and signed.

An original, signed copy must be submitted to the Delegation office.

4. ADVERTISING REQUIREMENTS

All Local Bills must be advertised in advance unless they are subject to a vote of the electorate in a referendum. Section 10 of Article III of the Florida Constitution provides:

“Special Laws. – No special law shall be passed unless notice of intention to seek enactment thereof has been published in the manner provided by general law. Such notice shall not be necessary when the law, except the provision for referendum, is conditioned to become affective only upon approval by vote of the electors of the area affected.”

The law which relates to the manner in which such notice is to be published is found in ss.11.02, 11.03 and 11.04, Florida Statutes, (see pages 14-15.)

In a notice of legislation, it is common practice to use the title of the proposed legislation to “state the substance of the contemplated law.” (Example on page 19 illustrates a “Notice of Legislation.”)

It is the responsibility of the requesting party or organization to advertise all local bills. The delegation office WILL NOT be responsible for the advertising of local bills.

Section 11.02, Florida Statutes, requires publication one time at least 30 days before introduction of the bill into the Legislature. The publication is physically attached to the original copy of the bill when submitted to the Legislature for filing.

PLEASE NOTE: A local bill will not be accepted for filing unless it is accompanied by an affidavit which offers proof that the required publication of notice has been made. (See page 19.)

There is a common misconception that the published notice is sufficient so long as it conforms to the bill as introduced. In reality, the notice must conform to the substance of the bill as it is ultimately enacted.

5. DEADLINE DATES

This, perhaps, is the most important section of this manual. It cannot be stressed enough that the dates listed below must be met and there can be no exceptions. Therefore, please help us to help you by meeting the dates will in advance of their requirements.

A. LOCAL BILL DEADLINE – TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 2017 AT NOON

We also require an electronic version of your draft bill, in Word format. Please email the draft bill and any supporting documentation to Christine Shaw at CShaw1@pbcgov.org

C. ADVERTISED AT LEAST THIRTY (30) DAYS PRIOR TO INTRODUCTION OF BILL IN THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE – BY MONDAY, DECEMBER 4, 2017.

The agency, organization or individual requesting a local bill must advertise the Notice of Proposed Legislation in the local newspapers. (This is required at least 30 days before introduction of the bill into the legislature. See Example 8-D on page 19.)

D. THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE – JANUARY 9, 2018 THROUGH MARCH 9, 2018

The Delegation will track all local bills in the Florida Legislature from introduction to final passage.

6. LOCAL BILL CERTIFICATION

Legislative policy requires that before a local bill can be heard, three things must occur:

- (1) The Delegation must certify that the bill's purpose cannot be accomplished at the local level;
- (2) A public hearing must be held in the area affected; and
- (3) After the hearing, the bill must be approved by the Delegation.

The House Local, Federal & Veterans Affairs Subcommittee has developed a local bill certification form, which will be used to satisfy this requirement.

This form will be completed by the Delegation office and signed by the Delegation Chair.

8. C. REFERENDUM INFORMATION

EXCERPT FROM “LOCAL BILL/SPECIAL ACT PROCESS”
by House Committee on Local Government Affairs

Referendum in Lieu of Notice

Under s. 10. Art.III of the State Constitution, the effectiveness of any local bill not properly advertised in advance must be conditioned upon approval of the affected voters. In such bills, the customary effective date is replaced with a section that calls for a referendum and conditions the fate of the act on the outcome of the election.

While referendum approval is not required for most local bills, in the case of politically sensitive bills (such as bills that create cities), legislators often let the affected voters decide and place a referendum requirement in a local bill as matter of policy.

Mandatory Referendum

This issue causes confusion to those not having a clear understanding of the difference between the requirements regarding noticing the local bill and a provision in a local bill which requires voter approval.

Some local bills include provisions that can only be implemented upon approval by the affected voters. This type of bill must include a referendum provision for that particular provision to be effective. (This type of referendum does NOT often take the place of a referendum held in lieu of advance notice). A referendum must be held whenever a local bill:

- C. Creates or increases certain ad valorem taking power;
- D. Provides for issuance of certain bonds;
- E. Establishes, amends, or repeals a county charter;
- F. Consolidates city and county government;
- G. Provides for the manner of choosing or transfer of duties of county offices;
- H. Combines school districts; or
- I. Provides for an appointed (rather than elected) school superintendent.

For example, a local bill amending the Hillsborough County charter was advertised 30 days prior to introduction into the 1987 Legislature. The local bill, however, contained a requirement that the voters approve this change to the County’s charter. In this case, the bill met the requirement for notice and the requirement of voter approval. (See Chapter 87-680, Laws of Florida, which failed at referendum).

8. C. REFERENDUM EXAMPLES - continued

Example #1:

Section 12. This act shall take effect only upon its approval by a majority vote of those qualified electors of Palm Beach County voting in a referendum to be held by Board of County Commissioners of Palm Beach County in conjunction with _____ election of _____, in accordance with the provisions of law relating to elections currently in force in Palm Beach County, except that this section shall take effect upon becoming law.

Example #2:

Section 2. This act shall take effect only upon its approval by a majority vote of those qualified electors of Palm Beach County voting in a referendum to be held by the Board of County Commissioners of Palm Beach County, in accordance with the provisions of law relating to elections currently in force in Palm Beach County, except that this section shall take effect upon becoming law.
