Council Update:
November proclaimed
Prematurity Awareness month

The percentage of Palm Beach County babies born too early dropped from 2015 to 2016 - a drop seen across all racial and ethnic demographics. But experts note that even 1,370 premature babies born in Palm Beach County in 2016 is too many, since the immediate and long-term health implications for infants, their families and the whole community are so significant.
