RHYTHMS OF RESISTANCE WORKSHOP & CONVERSATION

Thursday, May 14 • 6:30-8:30pm • Cohen Pavilion

Discover how African Americans used music as both a tool of resistance and a source of joy during the Civil Rights Movement. Explore how freedom songs, jazz, gospel and early soul music became powerful vehicles for protest, unity, healing and hope.

Brian Knowles is a dynamic educator, speaker, and curriculum developer dedicated to creating culturally affirming learning experiences that connect history, identity and community.
